

SIAMEASE

Data Migration for SAP R/3

Many of us forget the air around us until we start climbing a mountain. When that air is drained from us, we slow down and struggle to function, being consumed by the simplest tasks. Although not nearly as important as air, Siamease is a critical SAP tool that provides a life-line helping hand to your SAP team. Allowing them to function independently with limited time and resources and mostly helping them climb the mountain.

Siamease loads data into SAP. It does this from user spreadsheets and intuitively drives the SAP frontend transactions—From simple to bulk postings across multiple transactions.

Siamease is very easy to use and is especially geared towards the business analysts in the team. Not only is it focused on the transaction flow but pays special attention to the data being loaded, offering automatic validations, conversions and mapping functionality.

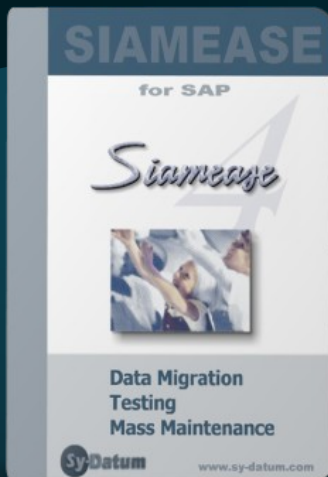

Simplifying data migration—in the initial project phases, through to mass data maintenance in the long term. Keeping your SAP system alive and manageable with limited resources.

Critical as air, because Siamease promotes an attitude of independence Removing the technicality from an otherwise difficult job, allowing your data migration and interfaces to be user defined—user driven.

Promoting self reliance and self sufficiency in your team
